Research Associates and Laboratory Research Associates

Introduction

Research Associates (RA) and Laborates (LRA) are non-employee affiliates of the College. The College sponsors types of affiliations, Research Associates and Laboratory Research Associates.

If approved by the Provost's Office, the affiliate is granted certain campus privileges, such as use of the Bryn Mawr College libraries, on-camparking, and limited Bryn Mawr computing access.

LAs and LRAs enter into a contract with the College and must to comply with the College's guidelines, policies, and "Principles to be Bryn Mawr College Workplace."

RAs and LRAs have a unique status in the eggelacademic environment. As neither students nor employees, RAs and LRA mag/I outside the academic and administrative structure with regard to supervision surance coverage, training, and records.

To the extent that LRAs work in laboratories or other facilities which present special hazards, their status presents special liabilities and ceons related to injurgroperty damage, regulatory compliance, accountability, and work with students and staff.

This policy was created as a framework for interesting persons as RA and LRAs with Bryn Mawr College.

Definition, Application and Scope

RAs are defined as persons engaged in academicat the College who are neither employees (staff, faculty, students or others receiving as aunder a College-admistered grant) nor matriculated students of the College.

LRAs are defined as persons engaged in academic work at the College who:

- x are neither employees (stataculty, students or others receiving salary under a Collegeadministered grant) nor matriculated students of the College, and,
- x are engaged in laboratory operations, shoipvities, field investigations, or other activities deemed to present potential expostures ards in excess of those ordinarily encountered in library, classor or office environments.

Examples include:

x Visiting professors who are actively employed or affiliated with other institutions and afforded access to facilities here. Titheork may include any combination of independent research activities, assisting/collaborating with students, and instruction. Their activities at the College may or mayot be officially recognized as part of the work for which they are paid by the institutions that employ them. This category would include faculty working heeunder a joint major/degree program established between the Cogleand other institution(s).

- x Visiting professors here on salbibal from other institutions.
- x Persons engaged in independent research who are not affiliated with another institution, including former employees or students who known as guests on an informal basis.
- x Persons employed in the private sector w/wook with faculty or who use space here under a lease agreement.
- x Persons contracted by academic departments to perform services (which, for LRAs, involve their presencier laboratories).

There are exemptions:

- x Authorized visitors, working under the direct supervision of a faculty member, engaged in a defined activity for a brief period of time (not to exceed one week). This includes students from the TRI-CO, coming to use equipment for purposes outside the scope of a Bryn Mawr course in witch they are enrolled.
- x Persons or firms working under Facilities/Pursing contracts to perform such tasks as installation, repair or matenance of instruments, equipment, and facilities.

Campus Privileges

RAs and LRAs receive the following campus privileges:

- x Bryn Mawr College and Tri-Colleg Library borrowing privileges
- x Access to-Bryn-Mawr College Computing Services
- x Bryn Mawr College campus parking pass
- x A listing in the College's campus directories.

RAs/LRAs may be affiliated with a faculty member's laboratory, but should not be assigner's labors(07

The Provost's authorization may be revoked a for reason, solely at the discretion of the Provost.

2) Departmental and Faculty Supervision

A reporting relationship to a faculty member the nominating department must be established. The designated fully member/supervisor withonduct regular reviews of activities. This supervisor will also coordinate RA/LRA use of departmental space/resources with students, fellow faculty members, and ent departments, such as Housekeeping and Facilities Services, who queire access to the RA/LRA's space and equipment.

For LRAs, the designated faculty member wilhdoct regular reviews of activities, equipment set-ups, and process flows, with emphasis fortyschealth and envoinmental aspects of the work.

3) Establishment of Records

For each RA/LRA authorized by the Provost confidential file shall be established. The file shall include:

- x Personal identifiers, such as home address and phone number(s), and emergency contacts,
- x Copies of any agreements, waivers, indemnifications, leases, etc. established with affiliated institutions or employers,
- x 3URRI RI Kealth LQVXUDQFH

Each RA/LRA must complete a Non-ployee Information sheet with Human Resources.

4) International Scholars

International scholars being sponsored by BryanWICollege as RA/LRAs must process all immigration paperwork through the Office of International Programs. RA/LRAs are non-employees. Therefore, the College doespagetany immigration-related expenses.

5) Indemnification / Hold Harmless Agreement

RA/LRAs are required to enter into an indemnification/hold harmless agreement. The terms of the agreement may vary with the circumstances of each RA/LRA's affiliation with other employers or institutions.

7) Safety Training and Coordination (LRAs) LRAs must contact the Environmental Health and Safety Office (Safety Office) within a week of their arrival on campus to sche